

MARGARET R. COFFEY, M.D.

291 Whitney Ave., Suite 202
New Haven, CT 06511
Telephone: (203) 980-5544
Fed. Tax ID: 562313871
NPI: 1750480224

In the interest of achieving truth and justice regarding the custody of Ms. Riordan's three children, I am providing some details of the conversation I had with Jessica Biren Caverly on March 6, 2020.

During my telephone conversation with Dr. B-C, I was struck by what seemed to be a predetermined position that Ms. Riordan was incompetent and that she seemed to be probing me for evidence to support this position. She was not impartial, nor curious. She defended Mr. Ambrose in every situation we discussed. This was alarming to me because I was under the impression that Dr. B-C was hired to be impartial and make an assessment based on facts.

During the single conversation (interrupted multiple times for Dr. B-C to tend to her children), I raised concerns I had regarding Ms. Riordan's safety in her own home. I recounted the story of food containing allergens that my patient has a life-threatening allergy to (soy and almonds) being brought into the house by her husband Mr. Ambrose. I told Dr. B-C how upset and scared the children were about this and having to caution their mom to stay away from these foods when their dad brought them into the house. I suggested how dangerous this was for Karen, and how impactful and potentially distressing this was for the kids. Dr. Biren Caverly's response was surprising. She completely dismissed the stories and said definitively that Ms. Riordan "has no food allergies". I said, "well, that is not true, this is a medical fact". Dr B-C said I was wrong and Ms. Riordan is liar and must be lying to me. Again, I was shocked at her assumption of guilt and no curiosity at all to discover the truth. As a medical doctor, I am trained and practiced in not only psychiatric assessment but a general medical assessment as well. This type of medical history would receive careful attention as it pertains to all of my patients, so I have an acute memory of Dr. Biren Caverly's error in this portion of the history and the (at best) gross negligence in denying the truth.

I was stunned by Dr. B-C defending Mr. Ambrose regarding all the stories involving his parenting. She had little insight into the behavior of teenagers and the way they speak and interact. Additionally, she completely negated the diagnosis of ADHD in one of the three children after meeting with the child twice! The diagnosis had been made by Dr. Dorothy Stubbe, a highly regarded child psychiatrist at the Yale Child Study Center, who had worked with this child for years.

Dr. Biren Caverly's recommendations to terminate therapies for all family members and initiate treatment with new providers were misguided, dangerous, and could be considered malpractice.

Sincerely,

A handwritten signature in black ink, appearing to read 'Margaret Coffey', with a long, sweeping underline that extends to the right.

Margaret Coffey, MD