

From: Karen Riordan <kriordan127@gmail.com>
Date: Wed, Sep 4, 2019 at 11:21 AM
Subject: Do you know anything about this? I'm v concerned
To: Richie Callahan <attorneycallahan@gmail.com>

<http://yourworldnews.org/blog/?p=3522>

“Neither parent will report allegations of physical or sexual abuse to the police, DCF, or the pediatrician,” ordered Judge Richard E. Burke in Mrs. Wilson’s case, “the court will direct such allegations to the guardian ad litem who will review them (with Dr. Robson if necessary) for their merit before they are passed on to any or all of those agencies. A parent who violates that pathway through the Guardian ad Litem invites an immediate review of the parenting plan and alteration in access to the minor children.”

Attorney Jocelyn Hurwitz was the guardian ad litem in Mrs. Wilson’s case. Jocelyn Hurwitz was cross-examined by attorney Anne Dranginis on the last day of trial. One of the last things that Burke heard was that GAL Hurwitz discovered evidence that confirmed Mr. Wilson’s rage and his impulsive and unstable behavior. Meanwhile, GAL Hurwitz did not present the evidence of Mr. Wilson’s destructive behavior to Dr. Robson or to the court, but instead kept it buried in her file. Hurwitz also did not correct Dr. Robson’s testimony or his report. The evidence supported the complaints that Mrs. Wilson’s two girls had made against their father. It was exactly the same with GAL Maureen Murphy in Liberti v. Liberti.

The decision by Judge Richard Burke is fraught with irregularities. Mr. Wilson, the alleged abusive husband in the case, apparently received a copy of the decision in secret on or before October 22, 2011, at least three days before its formal release by the court on October 25. To cover their tracks, Judge Richard Burke backdated the decision to October 22. Meanwhile, GAL Jocelyn Hurwitz violated CT state laws by faxing a copy of the full custody decision to the officials at the school attended by the two children in Darien CT, prior to it being a final decision.

Mrs. Wilson’s case also involved the notorious Dr. Kenneth Robson—the pivotal agent of the court historically used to protect pedophiles — who fraudulently diagnosed Mrs. Wilson with multiple mental illnesses. Dr. Robson and Judge Richard Burke are both on record documenting that father Mr. Wilson hit, yelled and swore at his two children—even knowing how much this scares them.